

P-3.-433

Crossing the Divide

Dialogue among Civilizations

Table of Contents

Foreword by Secretary-General Kofi Annan	11
Acknowledgments by Giandomenico Picco	13
The Call for Dialogue	16
The Resolve of the United Nations	17
<hr/>
Introduction Unity, Diversity and Hope	21
<hr/>
Chapter 1 Overview	31
A. The Context of Dialogue: Why Dialogue and Why Now?	31
B. The Goal of Dialogue: Towards a New Paradigm of Global Relations	37
C. A Different Way of Looking at the United Nations	41
<hr/>
Chapter 2 The Context of Dialogue: Globalization and Diversity	51
A. Globalization and the Human Condition	52
• From Westernization and Modernization to Globalization
• Local Awareness, Primordial Ties and Identity
• Dialogue as Mutual Learning

B. Diversity and Community	66
C. Common Values	70
• Humanity, Reciprocity and Trust
• Toward a Global Ethic
Liberty and Justice
Rationality and Sympathy
Legality and Civility
Rights and Responsibility
D. Wisdom	91
Chapter 3 A New Paradigm of Global Relations	99
A. Introduction	99
• The Old Paradigm: Its Key Elements
• The Undermining of the Old Paradigm
• The Germination of the New Paradigm
• The New Paradigm
B. The Elements of the New Paradigm	109
• Equal Footing
• Re-assessment of the “Enemy”
• Dispersion of Power
• Stakeholding
• Individual Responsibility
• Issue-Driven Alignments
C. Building Together	153

Chapter 4 About the United Nations	159
A. A New Frontier for the United Nations?	159
• Beyond Representative Democracy
• New Constituencies
• A Coalition of Institutions and Civil Society
B. From the United Nations to a Global Ethic	173
• Participation and Legitimacy
• Credibility
• Reconciliation
Unsung Heroes	219
Biographies of the Group of Eminent Persons	229
Index	247

